Keep thinking up those AMAZING ideas for auction donations. Be creative! Services have been very successful in previous years. One year, a top selling item was auctioning a junior high student for a day of babysitting and fun. Another top item was auctioning off two junior high boys as helpers for a day. Maybe you love gardening and would spend a morning weeding and planting. Maybe you have a love of lawn mowing and would auction off that service. Do you scrapbook? Maybe you could auction off your time to do a scrapbook for someone who does not have that gift. We had a family auction off a basket of all their favorite things to do in Freeport. What are your favorite things? How about a mystery box? Pinterest has a TON of IDEAS. Everyone benefits when we all get CREATIVE!

Tickets: If you haven't reserved your tickets yet, make sure you do so before they sell out! Contact the office to reserve your tickets today or order them online by visiting www.tccsfundraising.org/annual-dinner-auction.

Family Volunteering & Donations: If you haven't already done so, please return the auction volunteer sign-up form that each family received. These are due to the office tomorrow, Friday, March 15, but we will continue to accept them and plug families into volunteer positions as they are returned.

Auction Classroom Baskets: Don't forget to turn in your classroom basket donations and forms to the office as soon as possible. If you have questions, please contact Andrea Stodden (815-233-1876 or astodden@tricountychristian.org).
