Math Olympics

On February 28, we had 24 students compete in the ACSI Math Olympics against 9 other schools with 253 students participating. New this year, the top five winners in each grade level and category were invited to advance to the Divisional Math Olympics. From there, the top fifteen winners in each grade level and category are invited to advance to the National Math Olympics. Out of the 24 students we had competing, five students qualified to move on to the Divisional Math Olympics (Camden Leverton, Benji Boettner, Easton John, Burke Powell and Emma Reenders). The Divisional testing was done last Friday, April 19. We just found out that out of those five Camden Leverton and Easton John have qualified to move on to the National Math Olympics! WooHoo! They will compete next week. We are so proud of all our Math Olympics participants who competed at all levels!
